

StrikeReady: Security Beyond the Web.

StrikeReady Mobile will be available on the App Store soon!

We're excited to announce the launch of the StrikeReady mobile app, built to complement our web platform. This release marks a significant step in extending the security experience beyond the desktop, giving you on-the-go access to CARA, our AI-powered security analyst, along with the latest intelligence and real-time updates.

The mobile app brings CARA's capabilities and core StrikeReady functionalities directly to your pocket, so you can perform quick actions, stay connected, and keep track of key updates from anywhere. For full-featured access to centralize, analyze, and operationalize data across your entire security tech stack, continue using the web version.

Real-time Updates, Quick Actions, and CARA on the go.

Instant Notifications: Stay informed with real-time updates for complete situational awareness.

Visibility on the Move: Monitor risk analysis stats, ongoing cases, and latest intel anytime, anywhere.

Chat with CARA: Ask CARA to perform quick actions or get personalized insights on the go.

New in CARA.

CARA Beta:

CARA's enhanced AI is purpose-built for smarter, faster, and more context-aware interactions.

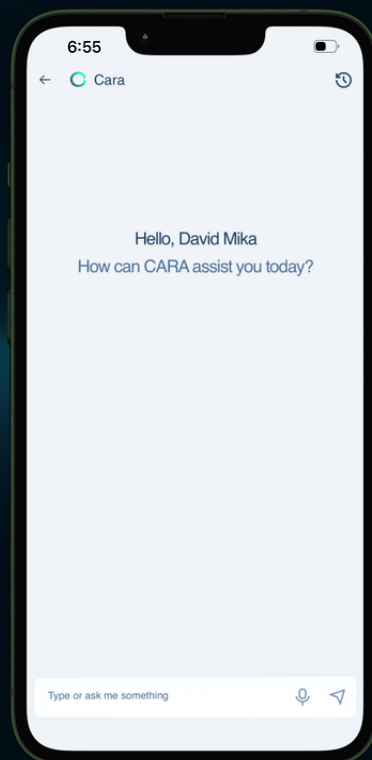

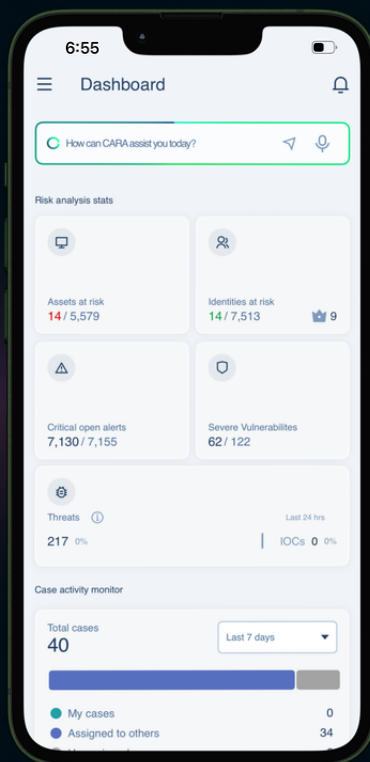

Voice Assistant:

You can now enable auto-speak messages with a preferred persona for a personalized experience.

Listening Mode:

Let CARA listen, respond, and keep you moving, while you stay productive and in control.

StrikeReady mobile app provides a comprehensive view of your security ecosystem, so you can view at-risk assets and identities, check critical alerts and threat insights, and track ongoing cases. Stay ahead with the latest intelligence from Recon and Audit Logs, detect suspicious activity with SandBrowser and Smishing protection, and CARA right at your fingertips to ensure your organization's security posture is secure, whether at your desk or on the move.

The Web Advantage:

The web version remains the most powerful interface, housing our AI-powered security command center. Think of the mobile app as your on-the-go companion, perfect for quick interactions and updates. When you hit a web-only feature on the mobile app, CARA will guide you to switch to the StrikeReady web version.
